

Creating a Blog

All About Me

Due: April 6, 2020

What is a blog?

- A blog is a place for people to write a story about their thoughts and opinions on certain topics.
- When we read blogs online, we need to be critical in the opinions we read and where their sources are from. Can the opinions be trusted as fact?
- The blog you are going to write is an All About Me topic where you will write about yourselves.
- You don't need sources for this type of blog, but you do need to have pictures in your blog.

Who am I?

Choose five topics below to write about. You must include the underlined topic within your choice of 5.

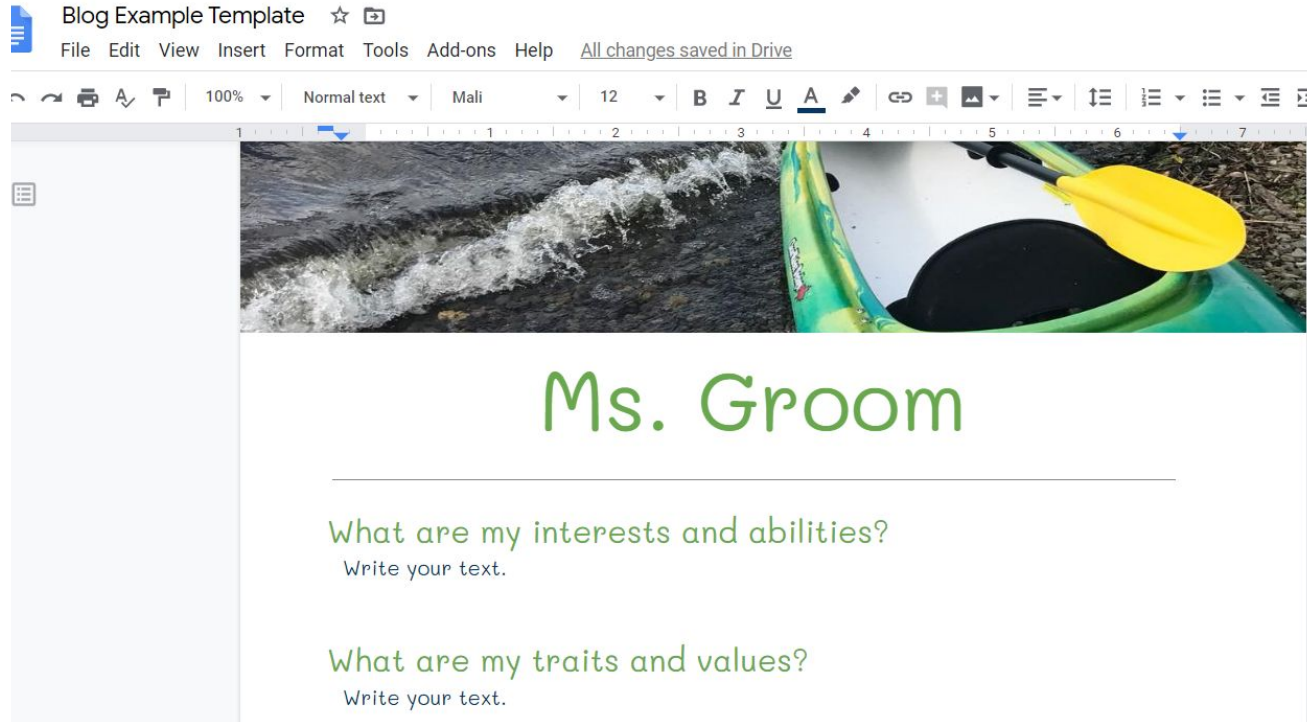

- What are my interests and abilities?
- What are my traits and values?
- What am I passionate about and what inspires me?
- What kind of learner am I? (this question is explained on the next slide)
- What are some of my accomplishments?
- How would my close friends best describe me?
- What are some of my best memories? How have they helped me become who I am?

What kind of learner am I?

This template has its format set to columns. There are multiple fonts in the document.

Be creative with your format! It does not have to be like one of these examples.

Next Steps:

- You will write your blog in google docs and when you are complete share your document with: alexander.macdonell@ocsb.ca
- Blogs are found online and are always in different formats. So how you choose to set up your document is up to you. The example templates I have provided are only for examples, which means you can use a similar template or make it entirely your own. Be creative!
- Your blog must have photos. These photos can be ones you take of yourself and your favourite things, or they can be photos on google. The photos must match what you are discussing in your blog (you need at least three photos in your blog).

Most Importantly...

- Have fun writing your blog! Self discovery is important for knowing who you are and what you want to become.
